HHS Issues Final PPACA Nondiscrimination Regulations

On May 18, 2016, HHS published a final rule implementing section 1557 of PPACA. Section 1557 prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age or disability and applies to health programs or activities that receive federal financial assistance/HHS funding, including Medicare, the health insurance marketplaces and plans offered by issuers that participate in the marketplaces. Further, covered entities (under the rule) may include hospitals, health clinics, health insurance issuers, state Medicaid agencies, community health centers, physician's practices and home health care agencies. FAQs were also released to help address the regulations.

IRS Publishes Letter Regarding “Readily Available” Standard for Employer-Provided Transportation Benefit Reimbursement Rules

On March 3, 2016, the IRS issued Information Letter 2016-0007. The letter relates to transportation benefits, and addresses the situation where the transit provider refuses to accept an employer-provided debit card as payment for transportation. Generally speaking, IRC Section 132 allows employers to provide employees with certain employers. These seminars are designed to assist employers with compliance with both state and federal law regarding employee benefit plans.

transportation benefits, including transit passes for commuters, on a tax-advantaged basis. Under those rules, though, if a voucher (or similar item that can only be exchanged for a transit pass) is “readily available” for distribution to employees, the employer cannot give an employee a cash reimbursement. In other words, employers cannot reimburse transit expenses with cash if vouchers are available instead. The words “readily available” have created questions, since it’s not always clear what that actually means in practice.
